Collect for Sunday 9th February Fourth Sunday before Lent

O God,
you know us to be set in the midst of so many and great dangers, that by reason of the frailty of our nature
we cannot always stand upright:
grant to us such strength and protection as may support us in all dangers and carry us through all temptations;
through Jesus Christ your Son our Lord, who is alive and reigns with you,
in the unity of the Holy Spirit,
one God, now and for ever.

Amen

Reflection: Sunday 9th February 2025 Fourth Sunday before Lent

In our Gospel reading from Luke we are told of Jesus's calling of his first disciples at the beginning of his ministry. Encouragingly for us Jesus chooses a group of simple fishermen. Rabbis were more likely to select their followers from much more intellectual and academic men and would be very choosy about who they were prepared to include in their group. Peter is concerned that he is not worthy to be included but Jesus reassures him and the others that with his help and guidance they will be able to carry out his mission for God and Jesus and that they are to be 'fishers of men.' This is, of course, exactly what happens and the disciples, who become the apostles, not only bring people to know and serve Christ and cause the early church to grow and develop, but many of them bravely give their lives so that this can happen.

Then in our other reading from 1 Corinthians, we hear of Paul referring to himself as the least of the apostles because he had begun as one of the persecutors of the church, and only when confronted by the risen Christ on the road to Damascus, did Paul come to acknowledge Jesus as the Christ and answer the call on his own life to spread the Gospel to the Gentile world.

It is good for us to learn that Jesus is ready and willing to use all manner of people to be included in his mission to spread his Gospel and is more interested in how willing and how faithful we are, so that all those who believe in him and love him can play their part in his wonderful mission. This means, of course, that all those gifts, given by the Holy Spirit, can be used and put together to bring others to know Christ, to know and experience his wonderful love for us and to be the best witnesses to his amazing love for us as we can be. Whilst reading and understanding our bible is important and very helpful to us, this does not mean that we have to be highly academic and intellectual. We just need to open our hearts and minds to what the amazing love of Jesus means and do our best to follow his example as we live lives which will show others that the best way to live is with Jesus Christ, the Son of God, as our Saviour and guide through our earthly life. We must always remember that Jesus have his life for us on the Cross and that he did this for all people who want to follow him and love him, and of course he did it for us - something we should constantly be reminding ourselves of. This will give us even more desire to love him and do all we can to be all and do all that he asks of us. Be encouraged, if Jesus is asking something of us, he will have chosen us because we are the right person and he will give us all we need to succeed for him.

Bible Readings: Sunday 9th February 2025 Fourth Sunday before Lent

Isaiah 6.1-8 9-end

6 In the year that King Uzziah died, I saw the Lord sitting on a throne, high and lofty; and the hem of his robe filled the temple.

2 Seraphs were in attendance above him; each had six wings: with two they covered their faces, and with two they covered their feet, and with two they flew.

3 And one called to another and said: 'Holy, holy, holy is the Lord of hosts; the whole earth is full of his glory.'

4 The pivots on the thresholds shook at the voices of those who called, and the house filled with smoke.

5 And I said: 'Woe is me! I am lost, for I am a man of unclean lips, and I live among a people of unclean lips; yet my eyes have seen the King, the Lord of hosts!'

6 Then one of the seraphs flew to me, holding a live coal that had been taken from the altar with a pair of tongs.

7 The seraph touched my mouth with it and said: 'Now that this has touched your lips, your guilt has departed and your sin is blotted out.'

8 Then I heard the voice of the Lord saying, 'Whom shall I send, and who will go for us?' And I said, 'Here am I; send me!'

9 And he said, 'Go and say to this people: "Keep listening, but do not comprehend; keep looking, but do not understand."

10 Make the mind of this people dull,
and stop their ears,
and shut their eyes, so that they may not look with their eyes,
and listen with their ears, and comprehend with their minds, and turn and be healed.'

11 Then I said, 'How long, O Lord?' And he said: 'Until cities lie waste without inhabitant, and houses without people, and the land is utterly desolate;

12 until the Lord sends everyone far away,
and vast is the emptiness in the midst of the land.

13 Even if a tenth part remains in it, it will be burned again, like a terebinth or an oak whose stump remains standing when it is felled.' The holy seed is its stump.]

1 Corinthians 15.1-11

15 Now I should remind you, brothers and sisters, of the good news that I proclaimed to you, which you in turn received, in which also you stand,

2 through which also you are being saved, if you hold firmly to the message that I proclaimed to you-unless you have come to believe in vain.

3 For I handed on to you as of first importance what I in turn had received: that Christ died for our sins in accordance with the scriptures,

4 and that he was buried, and that he was raised on the third day in accordance with the scriptures,

5 and that he appeared to Cephas, then to the twelve.

6 Then he appeared to more than five hundred brothers and sisters at one time, most of whom are still alive, though some have died.

7 Then he appeared to James, then to all the apostles.

8 Last of all, as to someone untimely born, he appeared also to me.

9 For I am the least of the apostles, unfit to be called an apostle, because I persecuted the church of God.

10 But by the grace of God I am what I am, and his grace towards me has not been in vain. On the contrary, I worked harder than any of them-though it was not I, but the grace of God that is with me.

11 Whether then it was I or they, so we proclaim and so you have come to believe.

Luke 5.1-11

5 Once while Jesus was standing beside the lake of Gennesaret, and the crowd was pressing in on him to hear the word of God,

2 he saw two boats there at the shore of the lake; the fishermen had gone out of them and were washing their nets.

3 He got into one of the boats, the one belonging to Simon, and asked him to put out a little way from the shore. Then he sat down and taught the crowds from the boat.

4 When he had finished speaking, he said to Simon, 'Put out into the deep water and let down your nets for a catch.'

5 Simon answered, 'Master, we have worked all night long but have caught nothing. Yet if you say so, I will let down the nets.'

6 When they had done this, they caught so many fish that their nets were beginning to break.

7 So they signalled to their partners in the other boat to come and help them. And they came and filled both boats, so that they began to sink.

8 But when Simon Peter saw it, he fell down at Jesus' knees, saying, 'Go away from me, Lord, for I am a sinful man!'

9 For he and all who were with him were amazed at the catch of fish that they had taken;

10 and so also were James and John, sons of Zebedee, who were partners with Simon. Then Jesus said to Simon, 'Do not be afraid; from now on you will be catching people.'

11 When they had brought their boats to shore, they left everything and followed him.

Racial Justice Sunday is on 9 February

Racial Justice Sunday is entering its 30th year of celebration – a unique day in which we, as the body of Christ, highlight the continued need to oppose racism and pursue racial justice. The call for racial justice can often be a fraught topic in our workplaces, social settings and even our places of worship – yet the Bible is clear that all humanity, in all its racial diversity, has been made in the image of God.

We serve a God who not only values but enshrined variety in all his creations – from the foundation of the world. And, as his handiwork, our first purpose was to live in harmony with each other, reflecting God's goodness and character to all.

Unfortunately, sin has marred this purpose. We now live in a world where race is often weaponised. Where racial hierarchies have placed most global communities at the bottom of a system that seeks to erode worth and our collective humanity – due to the depth of skin pigmentation.

It is these injustices that Racial Justice Sunday seeks to call out – encouraging and empowering Christians to be the change makers who lead by example for a fairer and more just world.

Sophie Holder, Director of Racial Equity in the Diocese of Leicester, says: “As Christians, we have the honour and privilege to re-establish what racial justice looks like in our world, as disciples of Christ. This work is not limited to one day, but this coming Sunday gives us opportunity to sing a little louder, connect a little more and work towards reflecting the true kingdom of God and all the people who call it their home.”

The theme of this Racial Justice Sunday is ‘Coat of Many Colours’, a beautiful and poignant reminder that our diversity in Christ is interconnected, that we were created to stand side by side, all representing the fabric and essence of God’s kingdom.
